Another excellent feature is the dynamic schedule system which allows for schools and teachers using a seminar system (where students have more choice in what lectures, activities, and assignments they complete, so long as they are meeting specific standards) to easily organize and keep track of which students attend which seminar and if they are meeting their learning needs.

recommend testing it out and if you do, the team will contact you within a few days to make sure you're navigating the system all right and not running into technical difficulties.

Along with all that, the team has just released an update that allows for dynamic scheduling, so learners can better manage their own time and schedule, it's a pretty great feature.

In short, if you're looking to personalize learning in your classroom and give your students a greater voice, either in a very big way, or a more simple traditional way, Epiphany Learning is an excellent tool for the task. The Learner Profile is an outstanding resource for helping teachers better connect with their students and parents, and can go a long ways towards giving students more power in the classroom. With all that being said...

Final Score: OUTSTANDING!
